Kuku Yalanji Experience

Cultural and Metaphysical 5 day Retreat

China Camp (Cairns) North QLD

Kuku Yalanji Experience—5 day Metaphysical and Cultural Retreat

The People

The Kuku Yalanji People are the indigenous inhabitants of the rainforest region—Far North Queensland, Australia. Their living area spreads geographically from Port Douglas to Cooktown and extends inland up to Chillagoe. It is thought that there were 3 to 5 tribes prior of the European settlement.

Families living in China Camp, West of Wujal Wujal, live in a drug and alcohol free community. They choose to live in respect with the Land following their ancient traditions. Well respected, they only seldom welcome special guests who wish to learn about their culture, stories and wisdom staying on site and respecting their Land.

"The Land is our Boss."

The Land

Kuku Yalanji see the landscape as humanised describing it in human terms and seeing spirits within landscape features.

In China Camp, you can put your tent onto a designated flat piece of land not too far from the nearby creek. Then, it is time to connect with that special place and relax to the sound of nature.

The Site

China Camp has restricted facilities. Water is in abundance from the creek nearby, it is used for short showers and washing up. Wood can be collected for daily gatherings around the fire. Bottles of Gas are used for cooking. Refrigeration is only be possible with the use of a rather noisy generator, so dry food and tins are more suitable and encouraged.

Your Hosts

CJ Fisher, Kuku Yalanji Elder, also former popular Tourist Guide in the Mossman Gorge has joined his force together with two special western metaphysical teachers: Roseline Deleu, Feng Shui Master & best-selling Author and Susan Skyring, Psychic Medium, Author and Personal Development teacher.

Three masters living their truth daily will be sharing their wisdom, knowledge and experience adapting their teachings to the level of the participants.

Australian Aboriginal Culture has survived amongst this family of the Kuku Yalanji people, CJ Fisher will tell you the stories of the area so each can enjoy indigenous culture, beliefs and differences.

The Retreat

From a logistics point of view, we welcome participants the evening before the start of the retreat, and the departure happens the morning after the last day. This is necessary to get in and out of the Camp and gives you time to arrive, disconnect from your daily routine and bring you into the mood of starting your new adventure.

Once you have settled and after one good night of rest, your 5 day teaching begin.

A few days away from the crowd and modern life, when many of you can tune into the Spirits of the Land. Seeing faces in trees, reading their barks and canopies, looking at the signs in the clouds, in other words... embracing another way of living amongst Mother Nature.

Bring your questions along, share your experiences, discover the differences of culture.

Fun and powerful exercises have been prepared rating from easy to more advanced and all adapted to the levels of the participants. Each step is a new beginning and a new experience.

All together we will expand on the concept of the 'Unseen' and feel the energies.
