

Your home is a reflection of your life.

Roseline Deleu has been consulting and teaching Feng Shui for over 17 years and many of her clients have gone through a life changing experience after their Feng Shui make-over/consultation.

- Instant Clarity
- Health, Career and Life Path.
- Love and Wealth

In the past, many of clients have opted for a Feng Shui consultation to work through issues of Love and Wealth – these are two areas of life that are still very relevant for everyone today. Lately however, more and more people are conscious of their Health, Career and Life Path. Feng Shui can provide instant clarity in these and many other areas of your life also.

Your personal Feng Shui Consultation and what it involves.

During a Feng Shui consultation aspects of your life can be easily deciphered by observing your home environment. The things you have on display and their placement tells about your life, your challenges, your passions, your struggles, your current path and lessons. The placement of frames and pictures, the colour you choose for your walls, the texture of your décor. All of these items vibrate and reveal your subconscious thinking process, which then of course, reflects your current life situation.

The Process - start with what you have

The way Roseline lives and shares her Feng Shui passion starts with common sense advice. Together, you look around your garden and the interior of your home. You will receive a list of suggestions to assist the energy flow of the outside environment. Inside, the re-arranging the layout of furniture and décor will be explored. All of this can usually be done without investing in any new items – together we assist the flow of energy in areas of your life effectively and tastefully with whatever you already have in your home. Then depending on your future plans and budget, Roseline can suggest new ideas for interior decoration.

Dowsing, Divining, Geopathic Stress

Your health is your most important asset, this is why in each consultation Roseline includes automatically a geopathic stress survey. Together with you, Roseline will show you where the weak spots of your homes are located and will suggest you some idea to remedy them if necessary. Detecting under ground water veins and ley lines are important to maintain a good health or to discover why some diseases appeared since you are living in your home.

Best Time to Consult for new Buildings & Renovations

Roseline is often asked to consult before the renovation process of homes and offices begin. By consulting at this stage she can ensure renovations will have a positive energy impact on your life and/or work and of course be cost effective and productive. With a similar impact she also regularly works with owner builders who are beginning the planning stages of their new home.

Release the Energy Flow

The majority of work that she does however is with people who are looking for a boost in life. Perhaps they feel their life has stagnated or they are procrastinating in an area of their life, career, love, health or wealth. There are always quick and easy suggestions to get the positive flow of energy happening again.
