Garden Colours in this period of draught 4

In Brisbane, early November we launched Jason McDonald's new website www.naturalspirit.com.au as well as the first Natural Spirit Workshop Conference Day.

All speakers captivated the public's attention.

Always very popular, Jason McDonald gave special messages from those who passed on. In the afternoon he taught us some guidance of how to contact them yourself.

Lisa Sherrah, chakra specialist connected us with our aura and the energy vortexes called chakras. She guided us briefly through each chakra point in the afternoon. Many shared their immediate experience and booked some personal sessions with Lisa in Deception Bay where she opened her new premises. If you wish a chakra alignment or personal reading, contact Lisa on 0422 379 999. Humble me (Roseline) now... The Feng Shui explanations started with the understanding of the different characters that we are. Understanding each other is after all the key to happiness as accepting the others the way they are and not the way we wish them to be... can be challenging. This is a chapter that has been added in my book 'Your First Easy Steps to Feng Shui' 2nd edition and is always a very well-liked subject. The afternoon, we went through the analysis of homes and inspiring suggestions for all.

Jeff Lam, Fitness instructor to the stars inspired us to exercise. Yes, my resolutions of getting back into shape are now truly happening! It took me 22 years. I needed to hear Jeff's encouragement and explanations to finally get into it again.

The closing ceremony of this day was a wonderful experience for all. After this long day that seemed for all like a short one... came Trevor O'Sullivan and his magic singing accompanied by a very special drum especially made for this event.

Trevor was taught by Grey Wold an Inuit American Indian elder. He sang and drummed for us all. We all felt revived. Visit www.metaphysicallyspeaking.com

And invite him to your next event (he is travelling around Australia until end of 2007).

We will be organising Natural Spirit Conference Days in other locations in Australia, I will keep you posted of our future events.

Oh, how we can learn by others

Kaleena Bosanquet

I was privileged enough to be invited to speak at the latest Feng Shui Conference in Canberra. How overjoyed and elated, yet a little nervous I was. As I have never been involved in a conference held by Roseline Deleu, I was not sure of what to expect, nor the response I would get to my insight of Scent Shui.

Well, I have to say that Sunday left me enlightened, rejuvenated and inspired to learn more. I believe that we all can learn something from the people that cross our paths. It may not dawn on us immediately, yet the information we hear and learn may present itself to us down the track.

How blessed I feel to have met some wonderful and insightful people. Not only did they capture my attention with their learning, they also earned my respect.

Oh how much we really still have to learn. It is endless...

From Steven Guth and his own findings on the electro magnetic fields, which makes you question where are we heading as a planet? To Harald W. Tietze whom just makes you want to smile and appreciate what we have and who we are. Then we had Denise Shaw from whom many of us decided to de-clutter immediately. Denise also inspired us with the drums and the magic of their individual vibrations.

Roza Alexandra gave us a great insight to the power of Mandalas and showed us just how long in history they have been around. We all think it's a new age thing, yet history once again proves us wrong. David Baggs and Mary-Lou Kelly presented to us that there is really forest friendly and eco safe products to use in our home, and how finally some of the big companies like 'Bunnings' are getting on board, and trying to save our planet and health. Yeah....Then we had the fabulous Roseline, always inspiring us to look beyond that which meets the eye. Roseline Deleu showed us how various buildings can suit individuals more so than others, depending on their element and characteristics. With the support of amazing pictures, she showed us the power of vibrations, and their effect on us and nature. Who mimics who?

I thank each and every one of you, for the joy that you brought to my day and for the friendships that I made. I thank you for allowing me to give you my insight, into the vibrations of essential oils and the power they have on us and our home. I hope I inspired you all to go home and have fun with nature. I look forward to the next time our paths cross.

In Love and Light,

Synchronicity Speaking

Dear Roseline,

We met at the University of Qld a month or so ago. I bought and read your book. You might remember me asking about the dowsing rod near the end of the night. You told me to look out for hot water systems/ electrical boxes etc. I discovered a few days later that my brother and his partner were sleeping in a flat above the power boxes and hot water systems for all four units. One was suffering of constant migraines at the time.

Synchronicities have abounded in recent weeks.

I see patterns in a lot of what you write about; particularly the relationships between elements/ years etc.

The advice about balancing the elements in and around the home is interesting. In fact, we had just completed building our home before I met you (and before I had learnt anything about feng shui) – we didn't engage architects, more or less designing everything on our own. The study is in the study corner – my wife and I are both born in water element years (1963 babies) and I had remarked how much I liked our new en-suite – even in terms of a spiritual connection. This was prior to discovering it was in the spiritual/ study corner of our top level. I have stocked up the 4 corner of our main living level with wood and have been surprised with the family's financial affairs in recent weeks. If you have a mailing list – put me on it please. Best wishes at this time.

Bottled with Love - Life Energy Water - part 2 -

by Sally Turner

More About the Water

When Sally says this is Ancient Water, she is not kidding. Life Energy Water is bottled at the Source and the Source is the 2 million year old Great Artesian Basin!

Water's 'maturity' is measured by the amount of time between 'gravitation' (falling and rain) and 'levitation'. Some German scientists tested the age or maturity of one of the European Holy waters a few years ago and found it to be 154 years old. The date of 2 million years is from testing by the CSIRO many years ago. Children are fascinated that they are drinking such ancient water. When Sally explains that this is why this water contains so many fine minerals, collected from the Earth over its long journey through the rock strata, their imaginations go to a time when dinosaurs roamed the earth.

Life Energy Water collected an abundance of alkaline minerals, including high amounts of silica 25mg/L and bicarbonates 231mg/L, which makes it similar to the water the hunza people drink. Being non-acidic or alkaline means that Life Energy Water has a delicious silky smooth taste and texture that Every BODY Loves! It has been described as liquid velvet, earthy, soft, sweet.

People all over Australia are discovering how different they feel after drinking this beautiful alkaline water that Sally's family bottle at the Source in the Great Australian Outback.

The great thing about bottling water at a Source like this one is that it only requires micro-filtering to satisfy the Health Department. Sally pays to have it tested by the Health Department microbiology lab before being released for sale. The No Chemical Processing means a lot to people who want the purity, but not the other stuff.

Sally and her family feel good that they produce a mineral water that people really love and prefer to drink. She says the fact that children and animals instinctively love this water tells her she is on the right path. Sally carries a supply of tiny Life Energy Water bottles with her wherever she goes and gives them to 'random strangers', mainly children, telling them it was bottled especially for them with Love. Many of the Life Energy Water Children sleep with a bottle of it under their pillows, particularly if they are sick. They call it their energy water! Our Indigo and Crystal children are especially fond of this ancient mineral water, no doubt because of the high silica content. Apparently healers also need a lot of silica. Sally's hair and nails grow much faster and stronger since she has been drinking this water. My nails look like I'm wearing nail polish, but I'm not, and I need very strong nail cutters these days.

The high bicarbonates and carbonate levels seems to settle digestion. Once people with food intolerances find it, they become regular Life Energy Water drinkers. One mother told us that her child refused to take the carbonate drinks but will drink this water happily. Sally makes no claims that this water will cure any condition. Her suggestion is that people drink a bottle a day for a month and then make up their own minds.

Sally says she never doubted that Life Energy Water would eventually spread across Australia because it is good water and there is no substitute for good water. People find out about Life Energy Water from other people. We are in the People business not the Water Business! It is pleasing that more and more doctors, dentists, naturopaths, nutritionists, natural therapists and health food and organic shop owners are now drinking the water themselves and many are stocking it or recommending it to others because they have experienced first hand how easy it is to balance acid levels and stay hydrated when you drink an alkaline water.

Q & A—Clothes Colours, feel their Vibrations

Question:

Hi Roseline - Once again, your last seminar was great and I always get more good ideas when I hear from you.

I have your book "Feng Shui Steps for your Career" and wanted to know about one of the tasks you set. In the book the task is to wear a different colour to work on different days, but most people wear black or blue with another colour to work, at least I do. So do you need to wear only one colour to work or can you team a colour with black/blue/white pants or skirt?

Cheers - Jo

Answer:

Dear Jo - Thanks for coming and keeping in touch. Over the years, many people come back into my life regularly through email, comments and questions, others participating at lectures, seminars and courses. As you have realised, over the years my Feng Shui passion and teachings have evolved and my seminars are never twice the same. People learn and respond to suggestions when they are ready for them.

About your question in relation to the different colours to wear, I would prefer that you use only one colour in your outfit.

This is to enable you to 'feel' the vibrations of that particular colour, so even your underwear can be of that colour or... if you do not have this one in your wardrobe, choose a skin colour to keep it neutral.

Out of the Square and into the Circle

by Denise Shaw

What circle you may ask? The circle of life of course! Do you know it is possible to exist in a state of death while being physically alive?

Well it is - and a good deal of us do it!

I certainly did that, until I woke out of this living death and began to become consciously aware that there was a heck more opportunity and abundance available to me in every second of life than the small amount I was experiencing.

Yes I was stuck in a rut and didn't even recognise it. Do you ever dread going to work? Wish Mondays didn't exist? Do you do the same old thing day in and day out during the week just to make it to the weekend... only to do the same old thing on a weekend? I can hear you going: "Yep that's my life! But I can't do anything about it!" Ever heard the sayings: 'Take a gamble'; 'Jump off a cliff and you will fly'; 'You never make a mistake you simply learn more ways not to do things again'. Spread your wings, get out of your 'comfort' zone!

When we change the way we look at things then things become different and the outcome changes.

The Black Hat School of Feng Shui is a simple way to start changing your view on life. You can give yourself a real kick start to get you moving. Change just one thing, items or furniture placement in a room and you have changed its energy, its look and its feel. Keep changing more things and you can change your world.

Applying the Magic Square grid onto your premises (based on your front door being aligned with 8-1-6) will show you the areas of your home that need TLC. The more you take physically start taking care of those areas in your home with the intent to solve your life challenges, the more you will see your life blooming.

4 Abundance Wealth Money	9 Well-Being Fame Recognition	2 Relationship Love Marriage
3 Health Respect Family	5 Health Tai Chi You	7 Children Art Creations
8 Study Spirituality Openness	1 Tao Path Career	6 Helpful People Travels Compassion

Take a serious look at your life: what is not working for you??

- Struggling with finances? De-clutter your 'abundance' corner.
- Poor communication and relationships? Get stuck into rearranging sector 2.
- Poor health? Clean up and beautify your 'health' area.

- Hate your work? Reorient your desk and face the entering Chi.

- Don't have the courage to follow your ideas through? Add fire colours with shades of red, purples into your 9 sector.

You can change anything in your life when you apply these principles... and be really honest here those collectables on display and zillions of unused books DO count as 'clutter'.

Give your area a good smudging with 'Grandfather Sage' set the intent with prayer for what you want to manifest in your life and be ready; for it will happen quickly!

My own experience - After I changed the colours in my 9 sector I was presented a wonderful opportunity to speak at the last Feng Shui Conference in Canberra. It was a fantastic day with several speakers sharing their wisdom on ways to make changes to your world through their personal approaches of Feng Shui. I thank Roseline for this well organised day and to all the wonderful people I met, the pleasure was all mine. Feedbacks about my presentations from anyone attending the conference are appreciated. ## Garden Colours in this period of Draught

by Roseline Deleu

In this period of water restrictions and draught, some might struggle to have colours in their gardens.

During one of my consultations in Canberra, I saw a really nice creations by Archana. She found this idea in a Garden magazine and created it for their garden.

This gorgeous Mandala is well placed in their garden in sector '9' and I requested to move the bird bath that was in front of it. This Mandala is now enhancing the 'Fame and Well Being' area of their life and recognition will be happening soon.

If you wish to publish your special ideas or creations, please email me at
