Living "The Secret" CLUB

by Roseline Deleu

I must honestly say that since we moved to the Gold Coast it has been a very exciting time for us. Let's have a quick look at our latest news...

Many of you have been inspired with the DVD "The Secret". I mentioned it in the last newsletters and I hope that you had the chance to watch it and apply the principles of the 'Law of Attraction' in your daily lives. Here, we live 'The Secret' daily and breathe our intents every moment and... of course are getting real masters in manifesting what we wish... especially Alexis my 16 year old son!

Together with 2 active business women Lori Mitchell and Geraldine Magner, we started a inspiring venture called 'Living The Secret Club'. Like minded people meet weekly, exchange and talk about their experience with the law of attraction. From week to week, we share stories and get inspired by everyone's ideas and suggestions. We have been gathering for 6 weeks now and it is amazing how everyone's life has evolved very fast.

We are expanding this 'Living The Secret CLUB' to different parts of Australia for the moment and we know we will take it world wide too!

We already had some people interested in opening in Canberra and Cairns but they are looking for partners to be able to run this club smoothly. We are looking to have a combination of 3 people per area one of which is a Feng Shui consultant who preferably studied with Roseline Deleu.

Because all this is happening so fast, we quickly put up a few pages on the internet about our club, feel free to visit our first steps at www.livingthesecretclub.com

Do you feel ready to have this happening in your area? Please apply by email roseline@fengshuisteps.com Be quick, it is a great opportunity to inspire others, market yourself and get your name out there ... all this is all happening very fast!

For 'Your' Intent Only

Dear Roseline,

I have some good news for you! Martina Marcus came to my unit in Newport, during her consultation, we went through the place and made numerous changes. I was hoping that a particular gentleman would be back in my life as he had suggested for good.

This didn't happen but someone whom I had recently been seeing and sent out of my life came back in a big way. We discussed the issues that had us part, sorted those out and before you know it he is moving in. We have since bought a small house together and are very happy as are the pets.

I didn't "get" the man I always thought would share the rest of my life because of his problems (mainly health so he wouldn't commit) but we are still very good friends and he is truly happy for me.

J. and I are gradually getting the house the way we want it, we have been away catching up with a long lost aunt and cousins of mine and we are booked on a trip to the UK for three and a half weeks catching up with friends and following up more of our respective family trees.

I have started working on the Feng Shui side of things but am going to get Martina out to reinforce that I have got it right. She did such a great job the previous time.

My friend Eli and I would still like to do your week course but circumstances are against us at this time.

I hope that you and your family are keeping well and everyone that you and your practitioners help have as good a result as I did. Wishing you well,

S.M. (Sydney)

Roseline's important comment

NEVER 'cast a spell' on anyone when you do a Feng Shui adjustment. ONLY manifest YOUR intent about yourself.

Impressed by my Husband

Dear Roseline,

I got a shock last night when I came home and saw that Bill had turned one of the mirrored cupboards doors around in the bedroom!

I really didn't think he would follow your recommendation... but it just goes to show that when you think you know someone! We've decided to turn two of the three mirrors around. During the day the mirror will be in the middle of the doors and at night it will go to the end of the cupboard so we won't be able to see the bed at all in it. I love having a full length mirror in the room and this seems a viable solution for now.

So today I've been busy moving pictures and updating photos as well as painting some CD's to hang as 'mobile cure' from the ceiling. I'm having loads of fun and can feel the energy shifting already. I feel all off kilter... unbalanced but it looks so much better! Very nauseous! I'll use some E.F.T. later to clear that. Balance out my own energies. Anyhow, I thought I'd just let you know where I'm at with it all. It's very exciting Roseline. Thanks so much again!

Jennie—Gold Coast

Roseline's comment

OFTEN after important Feng Shui adjustments, some people can feel a bit nauseous or have a running nose or a sore throat.

It is part of the cleansing process. Keep in mind that with changing the Chi flow, you are shifting people's energies at the same time too!

Enjoy your experiences—life is great.

Including the power of Feng Shui into Security Design of Mass Gathering Venues

by Earl Morris

Feng Shui is becoming more prominent in the designing of buildings and work areas. It isn't an obscure ancient art any more; nor a wacky New Age fad... even Donald Trump has called upon Feng Shui consultants! Most traditional Westerners are buying into the idea, that the design of buildings can affect our moods and feelings which in turn can affect our fates.

A Feng Shui analyst or consultant examines the surrounding environment, the building and how people interact with the location.

Recently some of the principles of Feng Shui can also be seen either intentionally or unintentionally, in the security designing of buildings, as well as venues for mass gatherings. There are many who find Feng Shui a little too "airy fairy" for the "serious field of security designing. However lets consider, for a second, what Dr. Joe Dispenza who has done post graduate work in Neurochemistry, Anatomy and Physiology, has to say regarding the human brain. According to Dr. Dispenza the human brain processes over 408 billion bits of information per second however we are only conscious of 2000 of those bits; those 2000 are about our environment, our body and time itself.

Knowing this and acknowledging the fact that there are subtle energies around us all the time, and that these energies aren't always perceived by our physical sensors alone but none the less do exist? Such energies as microwaves from mobile phones, radio waves from your radio, infra-red waves, high frequency waves etc. etc.

Could it be possible that the energies given off by colours, sounds, smells and how objects are placed in room can affect those energies in a particular way similar to moving a radio from a table in one room gets bad reception and moving it to another gets better reception? These may appear to be somewhat simplified analogies however we have to concede that we are affecting and being affected, by energies around us on a daily basis... even if we can't see them.

After asking ourselves these

If these energies can be diverted, funnelled and or shunted or brought to flow in a particular way to bring about a more harmonious affect on an individual; could they be able to effect mass groups of people as well?

questions Feng Shui doesn't sound so off base....does it?

Let's take a look at the difference between a room you walk into and have books, papers and stuff all over the place. Take a moment and think about it... I mean really think about a place you have seen this way. Now, how did it make you feel; not what you think of it, but feel? I know personally I have walked into areas like my own home or office and felt myself having emotions of irritability and not knowing exactly why. Then recall that same environment after you organized it or even rearrange the furniture in a certain way that you actually fell in love with the room. It made you feel more productive focused, cosy, and even prosperous! This is an example of how energies of solid objects can be manipulated in away to bring about a more harmonious feeling.

Let's take a look at this again however from the vantage point of security designing to affect the way people interact with the venue they are in or even each other. Nightclubs can be one of the best venues to use as an example of designing entrances and exits in a way that gives off easy energy flow. An over crowded nightclub that has very "bad Feng Shui" will not have the ease of traffic flow of its patrons in the nightclub, thus patrons can become agitated and more aggressive. (not just from the alcohol). A large venue such as "Big Day Out" or a footy match can boast a crowd gathering of nearly 60 – 70,000. This would seem clearly overwhelming when you consider that the security force providing security could be only about 200. How do 200, control 70,000? Through effective security designing of access and exit points, being aware of choke points and flow of traffic (or energies of the mass)! At mass gathering venues security designers refer to Environment Psychology as the manipulating of the environment to control masses.

Another particular venue that you see the principles of Feng Shui and security designing coming together is that of banks and jewellery stores. If you notice that most banks and jewellery stores that have had security designers involved in the designing, are very big in "simplification." Take a look at most lobbies of "high security" venues: they have very few items in the public areas. Security wise this is effective for the simple reason; the least amount of items to clutter the human physical sensors, the easier for something to stand out that doesn't belong. Banks and jewellery stores have to consider the security side of things to a large degree due to the potential threats they inherit from criminal elements. However they also have to have a sense of warmth, openness and in some cases abundance as well.

Some of Feng Shui's guidelines regarding this have started to catch the attention and make an impact on many security designers planning, such as:

- An uncluttered work space with sufficient room to move will help you think more clearly and productively.
- Ease of flow for customer traffic thru a structure.
- Make sure the entrance to your building or premises looks inviting rather than nondescript. You may need to make some simple cosmetic changes to achieve this effect.
- If possible, set up your business premises, in a prosperous area. Placement of security lighting in advantageous positions to customer flow points.
- Adding various items such as mirrors to give the perception that a small enclosure is larger, thus not making people feel congested.

The Vacuum Law of Prosperity

by Lori Mitchell

Are you especially frustrated and finding yourself impatient in getting a particular goal and wonder how you can speed up manifesting ?

Using the Vacuum Law of Prosperity you can decrease the gestation period from concept to birth of anything you intend to create and bring into your life.

How? You will need to go to the opposing force and make ROOM for it.

The Vacuum Law of Prosperity is about removing something that is blocking you from getting your intended desire. It is about releasing, forgiving and letting go of old feelings and objects associated with your feelings. If you are working on health or relationships, then giving up some grudge or resentment may be the key. Try forgiveness in some OTHER relationship to get some space in this one. If you are working on getting new 'stuff' then releasing and moving old stuff out is the key.

Create a vacuum in the opposite direction and seemingly unrelated things you have been intending to create will show up.

Everything is in perfect balance in your life. All truly is well in the Universe. But you may not see it that way because you are focusing on what you don't have. For manifesting, once you know what you want, the Universe provides it instantly.

So why has it not shown up for you, you ask? The only reason is that you are stopping it. Full stop. Hard to swallow this without guilt or self blame at first, but this is part of our journey of learning about the Laws of the Universe. We have to understand, to remember all the parts of creating in order to see the way to manifesting. We have to unlearn old habits of scepticism, denial and resistance in order to receive.

Once you focus on what you want, how do you know if you are ready to receive? You are, because you came to this article and you have read through to here.

Your soul has brought you this far, so you are ready to hear the next step. You are complete with suffering, self victimising, resisting having exactly what you want.

You are extremely grateful for what you have NOW, and so you are ready to forgive others and forgive yourself, to release the resistance, the procrastination, the stubbornness, the arrogance of "I already know how to do this". You are now giving up criticizing, complaining or condemning anyone and you are free to live the life of your dreams.

Here comes that powerful, immediate shift in your health, in your relationships or in acquiring an item of your dreams. You are an awesome co-creator and the Universe takes pleasure in bringing you all that you ask.

Lori Mitchell is an Abundance Master, teaching and coaching on The Law of Attraction. She is also the co-founder of "Living The Secret Club".

Lori will be one of Roseline Deleu guest speakers at the upcoming Gold Coast FENG SHUI CONFERENCE this year on the Gold Coast. Meet Lori on Saturday 27 October 2007 or earlier!
